Successful Implementation of National Interconnection Service and Introduction of Unified Mobile Termination Rate

The National Communications Authority (NCA) is pleased to announce the successful implementation of the National Interconnection Service in Somalia, a major achievement that enables seamless communication across all licensed mobile network operators in the country. This marks a significant milestone in the development of Somalia's telecommunications sector and reflects our collective commitment to building a more connected and digitally inclusive nation.

As part of this initiative, the NCA has also introduced a standardized Mobile Termination Rate (MTR) of USD 0.05 (5 cents) per minute, applicable to all domestic voice traffic between operators. This measure is designed to ensure fair competition, improve service delivery, and encourage innovation across the telecommunications ecosystem.

Key Highlights:

- Nationwide Interconnection. Mobile subscribers can now call across all networks without restrictions, improving nationwide connectivity and communication.
- Unified Mobile Termination Rate. The MTR of 5 cents per minute supports a level playing field for all telecom operators and provides a transparent framework for pricing and cost recovery.
- Enhanced Consumer Benefits. Users will experience better service availability, more competitive pricing, and improved call quality.
- Digital Progress. This milestone lays the groundwork for broader digital transformation, supporting sectors such as e-commerce, education, health, and governance.

The success of this initiative is the result of months of collaboration between the NCA and all licensed operators, and reflects a shared vision of a unified, efficient, and competitive telecom industry in Somalia.

The NCA extends its appreciation to all stakeholders for their active cooperation and continued commitment to the development of the telecommunications sector.

We look forward to building on this success to further enhance digital infrastructure and service delivery for all citizens of Somalia.
